Author Update

I'm thrilled to announce that on July 13, 2026, I signed on to be a Perpetua Press author! I met Alice at an author's event in Ontario in June and we connected throughout the event.

She's based in Alberta, as am I, and I can't wait to see Anna Wells and the Mystery of the Dusty Duchess, and Anna Wells and the Case of the Caterwaul, under Perpetua's logo. Check out all the great books they have for sale. Mine will soon be there.

What I'm working on!

HE LEADS SERIES BOOK ONE: STILL WATERS

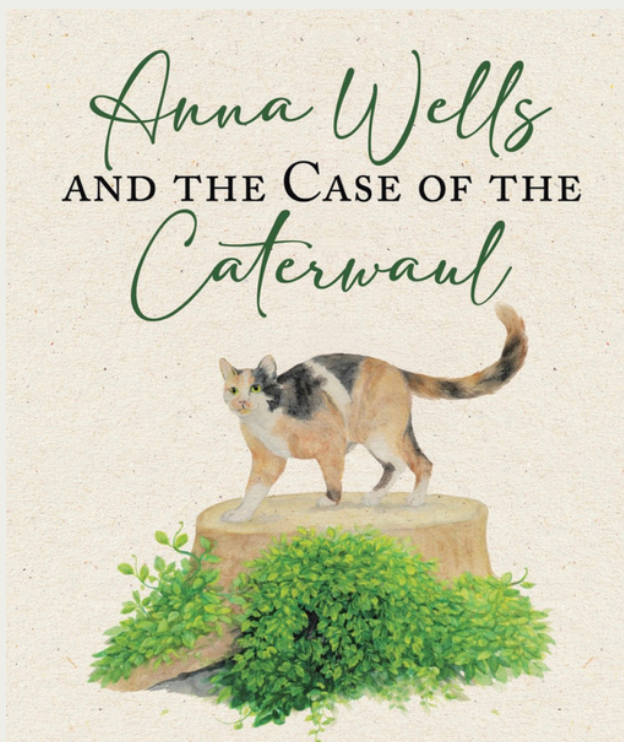

Chapter Snapshot

Following a drunk-driving accident, sixteen-year-old Mindy Garrety is arrested and charged with DUI and cocaine possession. Despite her expectations of preferential treatment, her father's influence fails to prevent a sentence. Her godfather, Judge Jack Harper, sentences her to a remote ranch in New Mexico, leading to a final confrontation and estrangement from her parents.

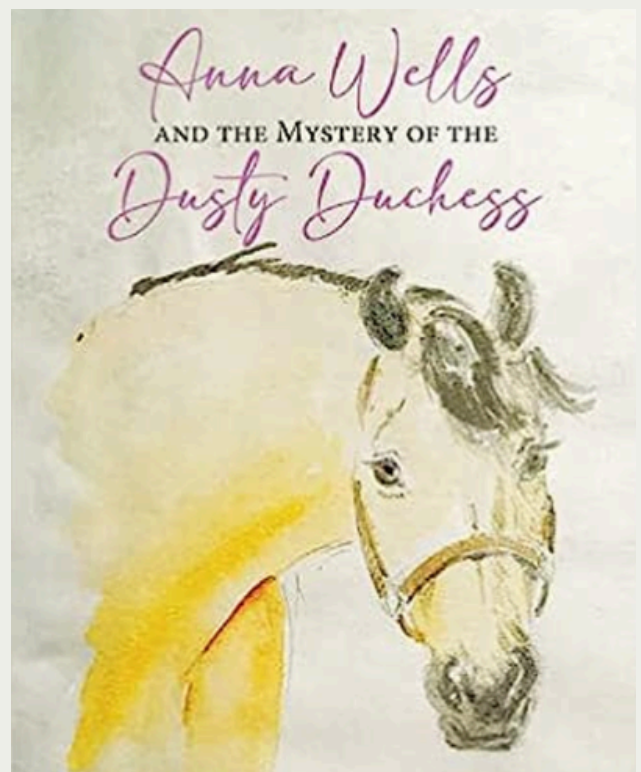

This novel started as a story for Faithwriters in 2007.

The topic was to write something in the YA/Teen genre. It was Highly Commended and I immediately thought, this needs to be a novel. I wrote the first draft around 2012 and am now finishing it up. I hope to have it published by the end of the year. If you want to read the original story follow the link.

HEART SINGER HORSE GIRL

At heart I am a horse girl through and through. Ever since I can remember horses have been on my mind...and music...and words.

My journey has not been a straight line in any area of my life! (I don't think I'm alone in this)

This year I've taken concrete steps forward in healing from PTSD and have marked some major milestones in my riding. Not as many as I hoped by this time - the unusual Alberta weather has altered my plans - however I am moving forward with goals for both my horses.

I have also updated and rebooted my YouTube channel, Heart Singer, to create a place to share my other writings.

As with all things, and people, and plans - it is a work in progress.
